- 14 George Scheer, Stephanie Sherman - Creative collaboration at Elsewhere
- 21 Jason Romney - Linking science, art, and practice through digital sound
- 28 Josh Tan - Fright and delight with real-time 3D data visualization

Sessions may be recorded for CDI's archives. You are welcome to suggest a topic. Contact Carol Strohecker if you would like to conduct a session: cs@centerfordesigninnovation.org / 336-413-5600

CDI is in start-up phase, working with minimal accommodations but enjoying a spectacular view of the emerging Piedmont Triad Research Park. Winston Tower (the old Wachovia building) is in downtown Winston-Salem at 301 North Main Street, between 3rd and 4th Streets. Limited free parking is available in the building's garage, and additional spaces are easy to find on the street and in nearby decks.

CDI is an inter-institutional research center of the University of North Carolina, building on strengths of the UNC School of the Arts, Winston-Salem State University, and Forsyth Technical Community College. We thank Senator Linda Garrou and others who have worked to bring legislation and dollars to bear on behalf of the participating schools, Winston-Salem, and the Piedmont Triad.
